Celebrating 20 Years of Partnership

In 2026, the South Australian dairy industry and the Royal Agricultural & Horticultural Society of South Australia (RA&HS) proudly celebrate 20 years of partnership in delivering the Royal Adelaide Dairy Awards.

For two decades, this collaboration has showcased the quality, innovation and craftsmanship of South Australia's dairy industry while recognising excellence from producers not only in South Australia but across Australia. Together, this partnership has strengthened industry standards, promoted consumer confidence and provided an independent benchmark for quality through rigorous judging by experienced industry professionals.

As we celebrate this significant milestone, we acknowledge the invaluable contribution of the Royal Agricultural & Horticultural Society of South Australia, the Dairy Industry Association of Australia (SA Branch), our judges, stewards, exhibitors, sponsors and volunteers whose passion and commitment have made this competition one of Australia's most respected dairy awards.

This year we welcomed 354 entries, an increase on last year's competition. Growth was particularly evident in the fresh dairy, cheddar, blue and washed rind classes. While it is encouraging to see growth in entries, the industry continues to face significant change. Last year we farewelled two valued South Australian cheese producers, and this year we see Golden North Ice Cream relocate its manufacturing operations from Laura to Murray Bridge. These changes remind us that our industry continues to evolve while remaining committed to producing exceptional dairy products.

The fresh dairy classes including milk, cream, butter and other short shelf-life products were once again a highlight of the competition. These products leave little room for error, and it is always a pleasure to judge dairy that displays such freshness, purity and technical excellence. They are a testament to the care and precision of the producers behind them.

The flavoured cheese and butter categories also demonstrated the creativity within the industry. Producers continue to push the boundaries with innovative flavour combinations while maintaining product quality, resulting in some truly memorable entries.

It was particularly pleasing to see increased entries in the washed rind and blue cheese categories. These cheeses are among the most technically demanding to produce, requiring significant investment in time, expertise and maturation. It is encouraging to see Australian cheesemakers continuing to champion these distinctive artisan styles.

Our judging panels comprise highly experienced sensory professionals who bring expertise from dairy manufacturing, retail, food service, education and research. The pathway from steward to associate judge and ultimately to judge remains an important part of developing the next generation of dairy judges. This year, I am delighted to acknowledge Victoria McClurg, who has progressed from steward to associate judge. This achievement reflects both her commitment and the strength of our development program.

Succession planning remains a priority for both the RA&HS Dairy Products Committee and myself. We are actively working to expand our pool of judges and stewards while we continue to benefit from the knowledge and mentorship of our experienced judging team.

The judging was conducted over two days using three judging panels, supported by interstate expertise. My sincere thanks go to Craig Davis (NSW) and Tim Gadischke (Tasmania) for generously contributing their time and knowledge to this year's competition.

A special thank you goes to Rachael Stacey, our Chief Steward. Her professionalism, organisation and calm leadership ensured the judging process ran efficiently and seamlessly. Under her guidance, the stewarding team once again performed an outstanding job behind the scenes.

Finally, I extend my sincere appreciation to the RA&HS Dairy Products Committee, particularly Amanda Ford and Matt Cooper, for their dedication and commitment in delivering another highly professional competition.

It is a privilege to lead such an experienced and passionate team of judges. I also acknowledge our hardworking stewards, whose efforts are fundamental to the success of the judging process. Their contribution is often unseen but never overlooked. Congratulations to every exhibitor who entered this year's competition. Your commitment to producing outstanding dairy products continues to raise the standard of our industry and demonstrates the innovation, resilience and passion that define Australian dairy.

I look forward to celebrating with you all and announcing this year's champions at the Dairy Awards Dinner.
